

VICE A CAPPELLA FULL BIO 2023

VICE is an all-woman collaborative vocal pop project, featuring dynamic emerging musicians each taking the contemporary vocal music scene by storm. Together, they form New York's most fearless all-vocal girl band. Each member of VICE is a powerhouse in her own right - between them, they represent CARA and ICCA award-winning arrangements and choreography, in-house audio and video production, and internationally-ranked competitive beatbox - but what makes the group special is its commitment to blending the unique skill sets of its members into a single ever-evolving, invigorating stage and recording partnership. VICE operates as a collective, which means the group is committed to creating a space for all members to explore the ways their diverse, individual musical experiences can make something beautiful when combined. As a result, while the group tends to gravitate toward pop and R&B, its arrangements reflect a large number of influences across genre and musical tradition, featuring a sound hallmarked by electric, agile trio harmony, supported by a rock-solid rhythm section. Known for reinterpreting classic and contemporary songs with wicked-smart arrangements, the group plans to add original music to the mix as well.

Formed in 2019, VICE competed in the Varsity Vocals Open in both 2019 and 2021, taking 2nd and 3rd place respectively, as well as the award for Outstanding Vocal Percussion, at the Northeast Semifinal in New York. Singles "Rhiannon" and "Hey There Delilah," produced entirely in-house, reached streaming audiences in 2020. VICE brings its electrifying stage show to a cappella festivals and private events across the US, as well as teaches educational workshops. The group's favorite moments, however, are when VICE performs for audiences at venues large and small in their beloved New York City. For more: www.viceacappella.com @viceacappella
